

GRAND JURY RETURNS 16 FELONY INDICTMENTS

Sixteen felony indictments were returned Tuesday afternoon in a report filed in 52nd Judicial District Court by the October term grand jury, after two days investigations.

The report, made to District Judge Truman E. Roberts included two indictments for forgery, 4 for theft, 3 for burglary, 6 for driving while intoxicated, and 1 for murder with malice.

Hall Is Indicted

The indictment, alleging murder, was returned against Damon Hall, prominent Sidney ranchman and livestock buyer. Hall is accused of shooting to death Chester Carrouth, another Sidney resident, last August 16. Carrouth died from three shotgun blasts. The shooting occurred at the Sidney home of Hall. The livestock dealer is under $10,000 bond. He has retained C. O. McMillan, Stephenville, as his attorney.

Grand Jury's Formal Report

The grand jury's formal report made Tuesday to Judge Roberts follows:

Your Grand Jury reports to the Court that they have been in session for two days and return herewith 16 true bills of indictment.

In our deliberations we have attempted to follow the splendid charge given to us by the Court at the time we were impaneled, and we desire to express our appreciation to the Court for his excellent charge.

We also desire to express our thanks to our District Attorney, Byron L. McClellan, and our County Attorney, Clyde Hampton, for their assistance in matters of law and in the presentation of cases for consideration.

We have inspected the County jail and find that many needed repairs and improvements have been made, and we wish to commend the Commissioners Court for this work.

We believe that our law enforcement agencies are doing a good job, and commend all of them.

In the belief that our work is completed, we request that we be discharged, subject to recall by the Court.

Release Date Advanced For Grazing On 'Diverted' Acres

Grazing of land diverted from wheat and feed grains in Comanche County started October 1 instead of November 1, according to William F. Bryant, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. The earlier date has been set because of the dry conditions.

This means that, October 1, County farmers who diverted such acreages under 1964 programs may use them for grazing without any downward adjustment in diversion program payments. The previous release date in the county was November 1. In cases where deductions have already been made from program payments, following County Committee approval for emergency grazing of such acreages, pro rata refunds—provided they are in excess of $3.00—will be made.

The chairman explained that the relaxation of the program provision in the county follows

The Comanche Indians will host the Early Longhorns of Brownwood here Friday night. Kickoff time will be 8:00.

This will be the first encounter between the Class 1-A Longhorns and Comanche, and also marks the end of non-conference play for the Indians.

The Longhorns have a season record of one win, two ties and a loss. Comanche is off to a good start—winning three of their first five games.

In giving the scouting report, Head CHS Football Coach Roger Oliver states that the Longhorns are one of the "scrappiest" teams he has seen play this year.

They were out weighed nearly 20 pounds a man when they played Rising Star, a team that defeated Eastland earlier in the season, to a scoreless tie last Saturday night.

While Early is not noted for its outstanding offense, said the coach, their defense is plenty tough, as they have allowed their opponents only 6 points all season.

The Longhorns are led offensively by hard running fullback Edgar Huddleston. Halfback Jerry Blen usually carries the ball the rest of the time during the Longhorns running attack. Quarterback Glenn Fortner leads the passing attack for Early.

Workouts this week for the Indians have been good, and Coach Oliver and Hobby say the boys are ready to play Friday, and the game should be a good one.

Comanche is a two touchdown choice by the experts, but the coaches explain this is too much of an edge to give the Indians.

Probably starters for the Indians will be Gray Jolink, quarterback; Danny McKinzie, fullback; Tommy Willis, wingback; Denny Scott, halfback; Bill Gossett and Bill Williams, ends; Sid Carney and Jim Culpepper, tackles; Tom Plumlee and James Allcorn, guards and Skipper Shumpees at center.

Two AWOLs and White Slavery Suspect Nabbed

Comanche's State Highway Patrolmen Lester Strawn and Nolan G. Crow made a pretty good "haul" on U.S. Highway 67-377 near Proctor with the Monday afternoon arrest of three men traveling in a station wagon, reportedly stolen in Anderson, Indiana.

One of the trio, 37, was identified as a fugitive from a Florida complaint, in which he is accused of White Slavery. The complaint alleges the man transported females across a State line for immoral purposes.

The other two men arrested by Patrolmen Crow and Strawn were identified as AWOL from the U.S.S. Lorene, docked in Virginia. Their ages were given as 19 and 21.

Assisting the State Highway Patrolmen in questioning the trio in Comanche, was Texas Ranger George Roach, Stephenville.

The three men were turned over to FBI Agents from Abilene. Complaints were filed against the trio in U. S. District Court, Abilene, charging them with violation of the Dyer Act—transporting a stolen vehicle across a State line.

Monday Night Fire Destroys House On East Highland Ave.

A frame house, 5 rooms and bath, was declared by Fire Marshal John T. Carpenter as a total loss, resulting from a Monday night fire, that was widespread in the structure when discovered and reported at 10:50 o'clock.

The house, property of Roy and Mrs. Nelson, located in the 1400 block of East Highland, was unoccupied. The Nelsons, who reside at Lake Eanes, were remodeling their former home for further rental when the blaze occurred. Nelson is a City Water Department pumper and Lake Eanes resident, while Mrs. Nelson has worked for a number of years as a dressmaker and in charge of the Municipal Swimming Pool at Lake Eanes Park.

City Improving Disposal Plant

The City of Comanche has been making improvements to the sewerage system with a view to improving service to the patrons, reports Lowell Pittman, City Director of Public Works.

One of the existing oxidation ponds, Pittman said, has been rebuilt and divisions put in to make water circulate back and forth across the pond. One new pond has been built from the same plan. Sewage will flow into one pond with circulation back and forth across and going from one pond to the next. Detention time, the Public Works Director pointed out, will be increased, thus aiding digestion of solids and provide a better job of treatment.

Returns to Home

Mrs. Ruby Parkman has returned from an extended trip to California and Oregon, where she visited her sons and families.

EDITOR'S NOTE: We are devoting the space allotted this department to an article sent us by D. K. Doyle, Arlington, who was editor of The Chief when the famous Silver Anniversary Edition of The Chief was published in 1924. In his article, Mr. Doyle describes an interesting trip he made a few weeks ago.

by D. K. DOYLE, Arlington
For the first time, I have been, really, a Texan tourist.

I understand there are some millions of tourists in the United States and some hundreds of thousands of them from Texas but I think that of the Texans not more than ten, or twenty, or thirty thousand will obey the impulse to try to write it all up and send it to the paper.

Any way, my travels worth at all mentioning have been few and far between. What is for some just an ordinary trip is for me a remarkable tour and I want to shout it from the housetop.

With my daughter Mary as driver and guide, and in my opinion a good pointer-out of pretty scenery and interesting things, the start for the Ozark Mountains was made.

Our destination was Branson, Mo., where we were to meet my daughter and family from Kansas. As it turned out, our motel was seven miles from Branson, in Arkansas, with Hollister, Mo., between, and shuttled for four days back and forth between the two states sightseeing and so on.

The Kansas daughter, who had chosen the place for the outing, had said that it was in the Shepherd of the Hills country and in the midst of lakes and she was more than right about both. There were Shepherd of the Hills reminders on every hand and you could look down to a lake most anywhere.

As an amateurish tourist one of my impressions is that anybody with an inclination toward historical reminders is going to find that history is just bustin' out all over in all parts of the United States, just like in Texas and that geological and botanical wonders never cease and that there are still more things, Hottentot.

I don't know much history but I like to hear people talk about it and maybe hear them say, "What a wonderful and interesting heritage!"

Our trip brought us into or near to areas reminiscent of such characters and sites as Gen. Ben McCulloch, Sam Houston, Opie Read, Davy Crockett, the Pea Ridge and the Lookout Mountain battles, the First State Capital of Arkansas, and De Soto and his men and the Indians.

Ours was a comparatively short tour but it touched in six states, three of them in twenty minutes. Opposite Cairo, Ill., at what used to be Bird's Point, Mo., only now Bird's Point is in the river and has been for a good many years, we turned to cross both the Mississippi and Ohio river bridges, swinging into Kentucky and Illinois back into Missouri.

My limited American travel is shown when I say it was the first time I had crossed the Mississippi in seventy-six years. And what a difference in the crossing!

Early foretaste of the Ozarks came soon after we left Muskogee, Oklahoma, when we veered off from Highway 65 onto Highway 33 and soon entered Arkansas.

At Springfield, Arkansas, a service station man said the area was known as the American Switzerland. I never saw Switzerland nor the Alps but I can imagine that the description was fitting.

From there on it reminded me of scenes with which I had become familiar in and around Austin on drives with my son Jack and family while spending last year's school term there. It was up a hill and down a hill and up a hill and then, down a hill and up a hill and down a hill again.

Around Branson we visited homes of actual characters of Shepherd of the Hills, some of the houses replicas and some well preserved originals like Old Matt's Cabin, where we walked across the front porch and wondered at its impressive scenic and historical location near the Old Butterfield Trail. I had never heard of the Old Butterfield before but understand its origin and extent is practically untraceable so far as anybody knows.

We also passed the site where Harold Bell Wright pitched his tent and camped while writing that Best Seller book of its day, with its enormous sales record. Shepherd of the Hills was written in 1907.

I was told that in that area is a cave with an underground amphitheater where the Shepherd of the Hills film is shown at announced intervals.

On the trips between Branson and the motel, we passed near the School of the Ozarks, with its interesting history and impressive record of achievement. It was organized in 1906.

One of the highlights of our trip both in interest and altitude was a visit to Silver Dollar City, the place where we saw Old Matt's Cabin.

Near the cabin we went into a 113-year-old church where, I understand, occasional services are still held. Beside the church were log benches, where outdoor services used to be held, and near to that was a swinging bridge over a wide chasm with a way-down look, and on which crossing over must have been a ticklish business.

Not far from the church in the other direction was a hewn log double-room house, the most pretentious of that area in its day. An inscription for tourists' information said it was built in 1833 by a man and his slaves from Tennessee. Many descendants of the builder still live in the Ozarks, some of them among the leading citizens of Branson.

Adjacent to Silver Dollar City is Marvel Cave, publicized as "Where you can ride the world's only underground railroad." I thought it would be nice to ride the railroad but found I would have to walk a good long ways. I have gotten to where I don't make long distance walks any more. I sat in the big Hospitality House while the three young grandsons made the walk and were brought out behind the puffing locomotive.

In the meantime other members of the group visited other SDC places of interest, such as the Old Silver Dollar City Hotel, Uncle Ike's Post Office and the tall building and machinery over the shaft of the old silver mine.

I understand the silver was never found but a large deposit of a very valuable nitrate was discovered which compensated for the effort.

At Hollister, Mo., is the railway passenger station with its interesting story. It is not an important story and maybe I am unduly enthusiastic about it.

Almost, Hollister is a ghost town. Only if you've thought of ghost towns as ragged, you would have to revise the idea.

It is a neat and clean place with its post office and churches, and three or four nice looking stores. Then there are a number of large and clean stone business buildings, nice looking but vacant and boarded up and their proprietors and customers departed.

Hollister flourished in the 1930s but after three overflows there was a big exodus of population. A huge lake dam is thought now to make the place safe from other such disasters but chances for the town's restoration seem very remote.

The auto ended the railway tourist travel. The town still has its railway freight service but passenger service was discontinued and the passenger station, an attractive stone and concrete building, was closed and sold by the railroad to the town for the low price of $250.

On leaving Branson the others turned back toward Kansas and Mary and I headed for Lilbourn, in Southeast Missouri, to visit my brother and wife.

Practically all of that trip was through Arkansas along the south shore of White River, turning north into Missouri only five or six miles before reaching Lilbourn.

It was a beautiful drive and for the most part through a well to do or prosperous looking country, and here and there a straggly district that looked like nothing but dire desolation.

At Lake Norfolk City we crossed the lake on a ferry boat. There were men to direct cars onto the ferry boats and on the side to direct them off. I expected to see a man to collect the crossing fare but found that the ferry is operated by the Arkansas State Highway Department and crossing is free.

After leaving Hardy, Ark., leveling out of the country became more distinct. The hills were lower and farther apart. Then it leveled until on reaching our destination we had come into some thousands of acres of the levelist farming land I ever saw, with growing crops of corn, cotton, soy beans, sweet potatoes and peanuts.

Most Texans, I think, remember Boyce House, columnist and radio broadcaster of "I Give You Texas and the Great Southwest." Some years ago I happened to learn that he once worked on a paper at Piggott, Ark. As we passed through Piggott I thought of him and when I once worked with him five or six weeks in Texas.

The acres of level farm land was of special interest to me, both because it seemed to me the greatest example of the mastery of man over the obstacles of nature I ever saw and because I had been there when there were no farms at all.

Conquering the forests is not anything new. Clearing of the forest has played the leading role in the settlement of America and its growth to mightiest of nations.

But this land was reclaimed both from forest and swamp, and it has a constant reminder of how it came about. The swamps were reclaimed by drainage channels through lanes of tall trees. The drainage channels are still there but now they run under inconspicuous bridges, and you don't drive a great number of miles without crossing one.

A visit to the Big Tree State Park was interesting because it contained the seasons and durable remains of the biggest tree I ever saw and because the tree was only twelve miles from where I used to live.

I never saw the Redwoods in California, but this tree was a whooper and its statistics are impressive: Burr or Mossy Oak; circumference 21 feet, four inches; height 145 feet; spread 114 feet; board feet lumber volume estimate, 6,000 board feet.

A scientific study of the rings by the State Forester of Missouri and assistants placed its age at 334 years, or from the year of the Pilgrims' landing at Plymouth.

It might have lived longer but after a lightning stroke and such other natural shocks as I suppose forest trees are heir to it lingered two or three years and died.

Like in the song They Cut Down the Old Pine Tree, they cut down the Big Oak Tree in October 1954 a local area newspaper headline announced: "Crashing Oak Snakes Ground in Mississippi County."

My brother and wife took us all to East Prairie. It was there that I had lived the three years between my eleventh and fourteenth birthdays.

East Prairie is not a changed place. It is simply an entirely different and modern town of over 3,000 population, with modern business and school buildings, with beautiful groves of tall trees nearby, where there was a rustic village of three stores, one saloon, a railway depot, three corn warehouses and an unestimated population.

At East Prairie we visited the widow of my most constant boyhood playmate. She said she would visit me on her 90th birthday, four years hence.

It was on this trip that we saw the Big Tree Park.

Trips to East Prairie and to Cairo were of special interest and poignant memory to me as on them I visited the graves of my father and five year old sister, and of an older half-brother and sister who had continued to live at East Prairie after the younger part of the family's coming to Texas. It was my first visit to that area in fifty-nine years.

My niece hosted the Cairo trip, taking us all to Cairo, making the round trip of about 125 miles and crossing on the bridges for the three-state swing.

Lilbourn is a modern and busy town of about 1,500, and to me a most extensive and complex trade territory.

Also it has some of as nice and interesting neighbors as anybody ever saw.

Some of the citizens surely are stayers. My brother has been with the drug store twenty-three years and a next door neighbor, a linotypist, has been with the local paper 34 years.

A neighbor knowing we were from Texas, mentioned that she had a grand-uncle buried in the Confederate Cemetery at Austin. It was Gen. Ben McCulloch.

She said there was a McCulloch County in Texas, and I said yes, and I once lived a year at Brady, the county seat.

I said I knew a lady at Cairo, Texas, whose deceased husband was a descendant of Ben McCulloch and mentioned that she had a son named Ben.

She said Eustace was a name and one of the back ancestors had owned a back and wanted it understood always go to a McCulloch ed Eustace.

Missouri can boast many sources, but we noticed a big Baptist church near my er's home was built of stone.

To be sure, a highlight entire trip was making the acquaintance, while at Branson, my only great-grandchild, as cute a little eighteen-old as you ever saw. As course, a darling and a W Asheville, N.C. is known "City in the Sky."

FFA Sweetheart Nominees Named

by CHS FFA Chapter Reporter

As is the custom each fall the Future Farmers of Comanche High School have started the election of their Sweetheart for the 1965 school year.

Four girls have been chosen by the four classes of students represented in the Future Farmers of America Chapter. Class selections are as follows:

Vocational Agriculture I students, the Freshmen, have chosen Janice Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Welch of the Beattie area as their candidate. Students of the Sophomore classification, who are taking Voc. Ag. II, selected Ginger Seay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Seay of Comanche as their entry for chapter sweetheart.

The Juniors have selected Jane Caraway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Caraway, as their choice for the honor of representing the Ag. III class as a dairy, Highway 36 East.

With such a lovely selection of sweetheart candidates, how can the Future Farmers go wrong? candidate for sweetheart. She lives in Comanche.

The Ag. IV class picked Glenda Houck as their nominee. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Houck who live on their farm. The final selection will be announced at the homecoming football game, most likely as a portion of the activities that have developed into a custom during the past few years. At this time the Homecoming Queen, the Football Sweetheart, and the Band Sweetheart will also be announced.

'65 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan

'65 Chevrolet Impala

It's '65's biggest, most beautiful change. There's striking new styling. New length, width and lowness. A roomier new Body by Fisher housing an interior that's a knockout. And a more serene Jet-smooth ride with a new Full Coil suspension system. Fact is, if you overlook just one thing you can easily convince yourself you're onto a big expensive car here. And that thing is its Chevrolet price.

New Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe

'65 Corvair Corsa

There's never been anything like it from either side of the Atlantic. There's new thin-line hardtop styling for all closed models. More length and width, more entrance and shoulder room in all models. And a higher powered range of engines—with up to 180 hp available in the top-of-the-line Corsas. How sporty can a car get? Mrs. Dixon Wins Football Contest

Guessing was hard again this week with most of the entries in The Chief's football contest failing to pick Dublin and Granbury as winners over Stephenville and Mineral Wells, along with some other upsets.

Seven contestants missed three games and the first place winner, Mrs. Walter Dixon of 302 N. Elm, missed the score of the Comanche-Goldthwaite game by eight points. Second and third place tie winners receiving The Chief for one year are Effie Lee Cloud of Temple, and John D. Hicks, Box 439, Comanche. Mrs. Cloud and Mr. Hicks both missed the Comanche-Goldthwaite game score by thirteen points. This is Mrs. Cloud's first time to win, but Mr. Hicks' subscription card shows that he won his first contest on September 27, 1959, and that this week is his seventh time to win the contest. His Chief is credited up until September 27, 1967 and he hasn't been out one cent!

Honorable mention for missing only three games, but not so wise in picking the Comanche-Goldthwaite score are Mrs. G. A. Reid of Graham; Mrs. Jewell Hall and Miss Marcia Spalding, Comanche; and Dr. Terrell Sharp, De Leon.

Honorable mention for missing four games goes to Carl Walker, Sidney; Mary Ruth Ross, Mrs. John D. Hicks and Henry Spalding, Comanche; G. A. Reid, Graham; B. A. Howell, Gustine; Ruby Hall, Johnny Dickey, and Walter E. Liss, Comanche; J. M. McNutt, Valley Mills; and Mrs. F. J. Smith, Brownwood.

A new issue of The Chief—a new contest. Can TCU win its first game by beating Tech? Will Comanche win its fourth game by beating Early? How will the mighty Army team who scared Texas fans to death the first half of the game last Saturday, come out with Penn State? Turn to the football page in this issue, clip the coupon, fill it in, and

by ANGUS DICKSON, JR., County Agent

It has to end sometime; it was only a matter of when and where. The answers to those two questions were supplied Thursday, September 24, when a sample collected from a cancer-eyed cow in Briscoe County was confirmed as containing screwworm larvae.

Thus ended a 53-day screwworm-free period in Texas, which began on August 2 when an outbreak was discovered in Irion County.

Eradication officials are still at loss to explain occurrence of the infestation hundreds of miles from previous cases. The nearest infestation reported in nearly two months were 500 miles to the west in southwest New Mexico and southeast Arizona.

Disappointed eradication workers said these widely-scattered cases demonstrate how quickly screwworms can spread during the fall months when all conditions are favorable for them. They admonished livestockmen to stay alert for infestations to prevent further spread of the insect.

The screwworm case detected in Briscoe County last week could have been missed very easily. Of the two dozen or so larvae in the submitted sample, only one was identified as screwworm. The rest were Phormia-blowfly larvae that feed on dead tissue.

Had the person collecting the sample failed to pick up at least one of the screwworm larvae, the sample would have been classified as non-screwworm and no action would have been taken.

Widespread outbreaks of screwworms could have resulted.

Now Is A Good Time To Buy Pears

By MISS JUDY FLEMING, H.D. Agent

Bartlett pears are on the market in plentiful supply, and now's a good time to stock up for after-school snacks.

They're a boon to weight-watchers, too for they are low in calories.

The Bartlett pear is large and white, with sweet and juicy and fine grained flesh. The skin is smooth golden yellow with often a reddish blush on the sunny side. Pears have their best flavor when ripened off the trees in a cool humid place at 65 to 70 degrees.

When selecting pears, look for those that are firm, clean and free of blemishes and well-shaped for attractive serving.

Mrs. James Schiller returned home to Baytown last Monday after a five day visit with her mother, Mrs. O. O. Brightman and other Comanche relatives. She was accompanied home by Mrs. L. C. Durham, Mrs. Herbert Williams, and Mrs. Gail P. Dudley for a week's visit.

It is not unusual for common blowflies and screwworm flies to lay eggs on the same wound. Screwworm larvae will burrow deep into the center of the wound, while non-screwworms tend to feed near the edge.

To insure that screwworm infestations are positively identified, larvae from deep within the center of wounds, as well as from the surface should be collected. When different sizes of larvae are noted, some of each size should be included in the sample.

Miss Hallmark, Mr. Bonner United In Marriage Here

NEWS DIGEST

by M. AUTRY, Rt. 1, Dublin

Miss Leslie Elizabeth Hallmark became the bride of Larry V. Bonner Thursday morning, October 1st at the St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

Parents of the bridal couple are Dr. and Mrs. James F. Hallmark, 803 North Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Boyd, Route 1, Comanche.

The Reverend Ralph Woods of Menola officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed at 11:00 a.m. The vows were exchanged at the altar of church which was decorated with white chrysanthemums, gladioli, and lighted tapers.

Attendants were Mrs. Malcom Edmondson, matron of honor, and Richard Adams, best man. Mrs. Edmondson wore a royal blue velvet sheath dress with a matching blue velvet shell hat with a blue veil. She carried a nosegay bouquet of gold chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a suit of off-white wool with taupe accessories. She wore a Dior headpiece with a short veil. Her bridal bouquet of gardenias and bronze feathered mums topped a white testament.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio the newly-weds are at home on Route 4, Comanche.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Comanche High School where the groom is now a senior. He is employed at Radio Station KCOM.

The bride was honored at a cake party on Tuesday night, September 29 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cox, Jr. Co-hostess for the party were Mrs. Edmondson and Mrs. Colin Reed.

Games were enjoyed by Mrs. Kenneth Sliger, Mrs. Bob Dudley, Mrs. Eddie Lee, and Misses Betty Rogers, Mary Jane Lane, Barbara Hilliard, Sue Hall, the hostess and the honoree.

A tea shower honoring the bride will be given October 16 at the home of Mrs. Howell Cobb.

ATTEND FUNERAL SERVICES IN MULESHOE

Mrs. R. E. Parker and Mrs. Frank Reese attended the funeral services of their nephew David Edward Everett at the First Baptist Church in Muleshoe, Tuesday, October 6. David was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Everett.

It was reported last week that the State of Mississippi has the lowest crime rate of any state in the nation, with three times fewer crimes than Texas, Mississippi, the advent of interfering outsiders, ing birds, cotton and sugarcane, catfish and compone was—before the advent of interfering outsiders—a land of peace and tranquility where the Negroes who farmed the big plantations sang the songs of the Old South as they worked and seemed content. Then came the outlanders from the North to stir both whites and blacks to the boiling point of murder, malice and mayhem. The dearth of crime in Mississippi must be credited to the peace-loving natives of the state—certainly not to the invading outsiders.

When it was announced recently that the price of milk to the dairymen had been increased 10 per cent per hundred the milk producers weren't exactly happy. Some dairymen in this tough and demanding business for years, were quoted as saying, "It's like throwing a starving dog a dry bone, the price boost should have been at least 50 cents per hundred." Anyone familiar with the trials and tribulations of dairymen agrees with their viewpoint. Emphasizing the plight of the dairymen generally, it was also announced that half the dairies in Johnson County Texas have quit business during the last 5 years.

Last week it was reported that a third of Canada's budget goes to pay welfare and medicare claims, also that most of the recipients seem to think its all free. Perhaps it is free to most of the beneficiaries but someone must pay the piper. As usual—since the Government has no money except that extracted from the tax payers he pays and pays. Whether these "hand-out" programs in any country are good or bad the "handouts" should realize that the money isn't manna from Heaven and quail on the ground. Somebody must put money, much money in the pot.

The Warren Commission's report, out last week hit numerous agencies in its criticism of the ones the Commissioners considered derelict and inept in their duties relating to the tragic assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the subsequent events and a possible prevention of a similar tragedy. Perhaps some of the critics mwas medited and if so it should result in sharpening the performance of the agencies and departments named.

Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, 57 year-old mother of Lee Harvey Oswald, charged with the assassination of President Kennedy, had a field day of criticisms herself when the Warren Report was released recently. She was quoted as saying, "It's ridiculous, full of loopholes and unfair. I have proof in my possession that could tear the book apart, and I'm going to dedicate my life to getting the truth of this matter before the American people." If Mrs. Oswald could produce proof that the Warren Report is erroneous it would be interesting indeed. But the course of wisdom for her it seems, would be to produce the proof then the pertinent facts—if any—proving the proof.

Eagles, and Comanche was again in business on their own 50 yard line. Quarterback Jolink threw a beautiful pass to end Bill Gossett for 36 yards, and the Indians were off and running. Tommy Willis ran for 10 yards, then McKinnie went in for the score.

Jolink, back for a pass could not find a receiver open, and ran for the two extra points.

The Indians came back early in the fourth period, with Jolink hitting his receivers, and threw to end Bill Williams for the second six pointer for the Indians.

Williams attempt for the extra point was no good and Comanche led 14-8 with 6 minutes left to go in the game.

Comanche's final score was set up when Dendy Scott picked off an Eagle pass on the 40 yard line.

After a series of running plays, Jolink again passed for the score, hitting end Bill Gossett with a 26 yard touchdown pass.

The attempt for the extra point was again no good, and the lead for the Indians remained 20-8.

The Eagles scored again in the final minutes of play on a 40 yard pass and run play. The pass for the extra point was no good, and the score remained 20-14.

Offensively, Jolink had a good night passing for 150 yards. McKinnie was the leading ball carrier for the Indians, getting 57 yards in 18 carries.

Defensively, the Indians played one of their better games — In the second half, the Indians allowed only 18 yards rushing and held the Eagles to 2 first downs.

The play of Skipper Shumpes, linebacker for the Indians, was outstanding. Bill Williams, Sid Carney, Paul Layman, Roy Graham and Tommy Willis also played good defensive ball.

It was a good victory for the Indians, and say the Coaches Roger Oliver and Pete Hobby, "We were well pleased." — So were the Comanche football fans.

Paps Blank Pups In Doubleheader

The Comanche Junior Highers gave the large crowd of fans on hand Tuesday night a Indian Memorial Stadium, a pleasant look-at-the-future, as they won two games from the Hamilton Junior Highers.

In the seventh grade game, Comanche blasted Hamilton 22-0. In the eighth grade game, the Paps won 6-0.

The seventh graders, led by the sharp passing of Marion Kirkland, 105 pound quarterback, rolled up an impressive 22-0 victory over the visitors.

Kirkland ran for one score, and an extra point; then passed 37 yards to end Travis Welch for a score and to flanker back Max Parker, for another 30 yard touchdown.

Kirkland hit on 8 of 9 passing attempts.

The seventh graders also had a 60 yard pass-run touchdown.

The eight graders broke a scoreless deadlock late in the 4th quarter, when fullback Rex Plumlee, broke off tackle for 37 yards to score the game's only touchdown.

The eight graders looked good, in winning their first game of the young season.

David Hyatt, 135 halfback and Plumlee, led the Paps running attack.

Jimmy Armstrong Rex Plumlee and Jim Moore sparked for the eight graders on defensive. Steve Kerby, at a middle guard position also played well.

Coach John Smith and Roddy Maddox's 7th and 8th graders play here again October 13th when they meet the junior highers from Granbury. Game time is 6:00 o'clock.

Murder, Suicide Ruled At Priddy

Murder and suicide was the ruling Monday, Oct. 5, in the shooting deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas William Partin early Friday morning at their home near Priddy, says a release appearing in the Brownwood Bulletin.

J. Y. Tullos, Justice of Peace in Goldthwaite, Monday morning, after making the ruling, said Partin, 36, shot his wife, Nine, 39, in the chest and in the forehead with a .22 caliber rifle. Mrs. Partin was lying about six feet from her husband on a sidewalk and he was on the porch. The rifle was near him, Tullos said.

Partin, a native of Priddy, and his wife, died from wounds from a .22 caliber bolt action rifle about 4:45 a.m. Friday, Oct. 2. The couple had only been married about three months.

One of Partin's three sons by a former marriage, asleep in the home located about seven miles south of Priddy, was awakened by a disturbance and heard shots. Mills County Sheriff C. F. Stubbfield said the rifle had been fired three times. He said both victims had powder burns on their foreheads.

Funeral services for the couple were held at 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 3, in the First Baptist Church at Goldthwaite, with burial in the Priddy Cemetery.
